It has an area of 19,485 km² in the Limpopo and Mpumalanga provinces in the northeast of South Africa and extends over 360km from north to south and 65 km from east to west. Certain park areas were protected by the government of the South African Republic for the first time in 1898 and Kruger became the first National park of South Africa in 1926.

Day 5

Safari Kruger National Park South-East

Laughing Waters in Hazyview

Today we start our second day of safari through the Kruger Park and we enter the park through Kruger Gate. We go to the South-Eastern side towards the border of Mozambique. This is one of the most interesting areas of the Kruger Park thanks to the presence of the Sabie River, which even in extremely dry periods continues to supply water for the animals. Via Skukuza - Lower Sabie we head towards Crocodile bridge and then return to the top to leave the park via Numbi Gate. The Kruger Park has an impressive inventory of animal species: 150 different mammals, 507 birds, 33 amphibians, 114 reptiles and 50 fish species have already been observed in the park. The park was founded by James Stevenson Hamilton in 1902. We spend the second night in Hazyview.

Day 8

Cape Town, the city that has everything

Durbanville

Of course I move to the other side of the world for a reason, this city has so much to offer

We start the day by showing you the highlights of Cape Town. From one of the 7 global wonders of nature, namely Table Mountain, the views are breathtakingly beautiful.

In the afternoon we visit the Bo-Kaap, also called "Cape Malay". A beautiful neighbourhood, recognizable by its bright and colourful houses and spicy exotic scents which are distributed by countless little restaurants and shops.

The national Slave Museum, near the city's Company Gardens, will teach us more about the slavery, Apartheid and oppression of the South-African people throughout history. We head out to the Green Market for some souvenir hunting and spend the evening in the lively V&A Waterfront, a typical cozy harbour with nice restaurants and beautiful stores.

Day 9

A day along the Cape Peninsula

Durbanville

You have an interesting and beautifully filled day ahead, because today we are taking you along the Cape Peninsula on the "Peninsula Tour".

We start in the coastal town of Hout Bay where we sail to Seal Island, a rock formation on which hundreds of fur seals find their home. We drive further along Chapman's Peak, a picturesque mountain pass that connects Hout Bay with Noordhoek and one of the most beautiful coastal roads in the world. We drive on through the rugged coast to the most South-western point of the African continent, "Cape Point" where the Indian and the Atlantic Ocean meet. We offer the possibility of a walk there to experience enchanting views over the sea and the mountains to the Cape of Good Hope. On the way back we drive past the picturesque coastal villages of Kalkbaai and Muizenberg.

Day 10

"Hermanus"

Durbanville

We drive along the breathtaking coastal road and make a stop at Stony Point penguin colony in Betty's Bay. We continue our way to Hermanus, known for the whales. In the harbour we embark on a boat, which will bring us closer to the whales. Hermanus also offers numerous nice restaurants and shops.

Day 11

Cape Town, viewed differently

Durbanville

Today we visit the slums, as they are also part of South-Africa's daily reality. The "Township Tour" starts in District 6, where we will be offered a brief explanation of the history of this neighbourhood, in which thousands of people were driven out of their homes during the Apartheid years. Then we continue to Langa, the oldest township in Cape Town. We do this tour in collaboration with a local organization, managed by people who live in the township themselves. This way we get a much more realistic and intense view on its daily life and its residents. We will also visit some of the township's employment projects. In the afternoon we embark on a boat that brings us to Robben Island, the notorious prison where Nelson Maandela was locked up for the greatest part of his life. We will be shown how prisoners like Nelson Mandela lived there.

Day 12

" Stellenbosch "

Durbanville

Today we start with a walk in the old city center of Stellenbosch and we visit the Stellenbosch Museum. We have finally arrived in the "Boland", this region is also called "the Winelands" and is known for its various green fertile valleys and rich vineyards. We visit different wine farms where we do nothing but taste, admire and enjoy.

Day 13

" Franschhoek "

Durbanville

A visit to Franschhoek, a stylish village with a large selection of elegant shops and restaurants and various internationally renowned wine farms is excellent way to enjoy your last day.
